

Publication:Oakland Press; Date:Nov 27, 2006; Section:News; Page Number:A-2

Checkmate

Oakland Press photos/VAUGHN GUHGANIAN

Alexa Dresner (left), 9, of Birmingham makes a move against her opponent during the first national cross-generation chess event at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield on Sunday. Known as "Chess, Chatter and Classical Music," the purpose of the event, said organizer Renée M. Yarzig, is to bring the two generations together for a few hours to play chess while listening to live classical music.